

CURRENT ISSUES

WTO enforcement of CODEX

"The World Trade Organization enforces Codex, which is mandated by the UN's World Health Organization to facilitate food trade and regulate food safety. The 171 countries who are members of Codex had agreed (until last November) that compliance was voluntary. However, after all delegates left the general meeting and returned to their countries last November general meeting, the Commission ruled, in their absence and without their supporting vote, that as of 2005, its rulings are to be considered mandatory."

For more information

Ferrie, Helke; "EU Thwarts Attempt to Ban Vitamins," Kos Publishing, www.kospublishing.com

<http://www.straightgoods.ca>

See also: Harris, Suzanne, J.D.; "Who Says Whatever Happens at Codex Does Not Affect US Law and Why Do They Say It?" (c) The Law Loft, 2005 <http://thelawloft.com>

See also "Overview-2005: Codex Guidelines for Vitamin and Food Supplements, 5/17/2005, Healthy News Services, <http://healthy.net>

U.S. Sovereignty vs World Trade

H.J.Res. 27, introduced by Rep. Ron Paul R-Tx, expresses disapproval of continued United States' membership in the World Trade Organization (WTO).

"While the WTO claims to promote 'free trade,' in fact it promotes managed trade and the further loss of American sovereignty to supranational organizations." -Llewellyn H. Rockwell, Jr., President and Founder, the Ludwig Von Mises Institute.

For more information:

Ron Paul, <http://www.lewrockwell.com/paul/paul232.html>
Crusador eAlerts, Sunday, April 10, 2005,

www.thehealthcrusador.com

EU Vitamin Directive Update

Justice Leendert A. Geelhoed, Advocate General of the European Union, has ruled that the EU Vitamin Directive violates the proposed EU constitution. "His ruling found in favor of Britain's supplement industry, which had challenged the Directive in both the European Court and the International Court this January."

For more information:

Ferrie, Helke; "EU Thwarts Attempt to Ban Vitamins," Kos Publishing, www.kospublishing.com

<http://www.straightgoods.ca>

See Written Observations for the ANH case in the ECJ at: <http://www.alliance-natural-health.org/docs>

A Health Renaissance

Bodywork, Personalized Naturopathic Health & Wellness Care

Sherry J. A. Kerchner N.D.

2366 Eastlake Ave. E. Suite 237
Seattle, WA 98102
(206) 323-7864

e-mail: sjak@foxinternet.net

FDA food pyramids

All FDA food pyramids promote processed foods more than public health.

For more information

"The USDA Contradicts its Food Pyramid Advice," www.mercola.com/2005/may/19

Barr, Christopher; "Pyramid Scheme," 4/28/05, Crusador eAlerts,

What you can do:

To improve your health, increase consumption of fresh fruits and vegetables, eliminate processed foods from your diet.

Class action suit against Aspartame

New York and New Jersey residents who may qualify as plaintiffs are encouraged to contact Mission Possible at (770) 242-2599. "To qualify, one must be able to establish themselves as an aspartame consumer prior to developing a brain tumor and fall within the three-year statute of limitations."

For more information:

Contact Dr. Betty Martini. 770 242-2599, Mission Possible International, 9270 River Club Parkway, Duluth, Georgia 30097

For more information:Homocysteine research

"Recent research conducted in the Netherlands points to the likelihood that some people are genetically unable to convert homocysteine at a sufficient rate, contributing to unsafe levels in the body and subsequent increased risk of heart disease. This research also [found that] Folic acid supplementation lowers homocysteine, decreasing the risk of cardiovascular disease."

For more information:

See Daily Dose, www.realhealthnews.com